

Leonardo's Strategic Priorities

Materiality analysis: a compass for a long-term strategy

- › The "materiality analysis" is the process to assess the strategic priorities relevant for Leonardo business model, identifying significant topics for itself and its stakeholders. Material issues are those that can influence the organization's ability to create value in a substantial manner and protect it in the short, medium and long term.
- › The matrix is the tool that compares and synthesizes both the corporate Management and the stakeholders' points of view.

A new approach

For the update of the materiality analysis a strong methodological process was adopted:

- › DATA DRIVEN: a deep and structured analysis through a digital platform.
- › PARTICIPATED: wide involvement of Leonardo's structures, Top Management and Stakeholders.

The process

- › Through an AS&D industry benchmarking and a preliminary data-driven analysis on the Datamaran platform, 16 material topics have been identified (from 71 specific topics) and harmonized with the 2018 materiality analysis.
- › 28 Leonardo structures identified key stakeholders representing a complementary external perspective to an in depth data-driven analysis.
- › Online stakeholders survey was launched to assess internal and external perspectives of Leonardo material topics.

The internal perspective

- › Top management engagement
Leonardo's Top managers answered to the survey to evaluate the 16 topics based on the degree of strategic priority.

27 Top managers involved

The external perspective

- › Data-driven analysis
In depth analysis of 4 external documental sources through a natural language processing and big data analytics methodology.

21 industry peers reviewed

1,631 regulations analysed

6,565 news surveyed

764,476,642 tweets
